WELCOME from the National Safe Boating Council

DEAR BOATING SAFETY ADVOCATES,

At the National Safe Boating Council, we believe wearing a life jacket is the simplest way to ensure the safety of you and your family while enjoying a day on the water. Our Safe Boating Campaign is a yearlong effort focused on spreading the message of boating safety and the importance of always wearing a life jacket each time a boater is on the water, no matter what the activity may be. The annual campaign kicks off the weekend before Memorial Day with National Safe Boating Week and continues throughout the year with various activities. The tried and true tagline, Wear It, has had a profound impact on boater behavior around the world.

The Safe Boating Campaign also reminds boaters of important safety practices such as taking a boating safety course, never boating under the influence, and knowing navigational rules. Statistics from the U.S. Coast Guard tell the story that responsible boating can save lives.

Thank you to our new and returning partners as we continue in this important mission to create a culture of responsible boating. The campaign continues to grow on international, national and local, grassroots levels. In fact, the campaign has spread beyond North America and expanded around the world in countries such as Australia, Brazil, Ireland, and Japan!

While COVID-19 has challenged how we reach boaters, we are encouraged by the dedication of our partners around the world to continue to share about responsible boating with launch point signs, social media engagement, online learning opportunities, and more. The dramatic increase in digital engagement during this time shows that boaters are actively looking for information, so it's important to continue to share how they may safely have the best experience on the water.

The National Safe Boating Council provides a variety of outreach materials using a fun and aspirational tone. It's about encouraging boaters, paddlers, anglers, hunters and anyone who enjoys recreational water activities to embrace their passion, show off their experience and encourage others to recreate responsibly. These resources are available free of charge to boating enthusiasts, campaign partners and the media at safeboatingcampaign.com.

We look forward to another great boating season, leveraging the successful messages of the past and adding new tactics to reach an ever-broadening audience of boating participants. Please take a moment to review these resources and learn what the Safe Boating Campaign has to offer. If you don't find what you need, please visit safeboatingcampaign.com or email outreach@safeboatingcouncil.org.

See you on the water! #safeboating

GET INVOLVED

Become a campaign partner and help us spread the message of boating safety and the importance of always wearing a life jacket each time on the water. Register at safeboatingcampaign.com/become-a-partner.

Thank you to all our new and returning partners!

Each year the Safe Boating Campaign kicks off with National Safe Boating Week and continues throughout the year with fun events like Wear Your Life Jacket at Work Day and Ready, Set, Wear It. Please follow state and local public health guidance for all outreach events.

2021 Events

- Wear Your Life Jacket at Work Day | Friday, May 21, 2021: This is a fun opportunity to educate coworkers, neighbors and communities about the importance of always wearing a life jacket while boating, and the different styles available. Snap a picture of yourself in your life jacket while at work and post it to social media using hashtags #lifejacketatwork and #realboaterswearit.
- Ready, Set, Wear It Life Jacket Events (Various Dates): Previously only offered on select dates throughout the summer, Ready, Set, Wear It is now implemented by campaign partners on various dates throughout the boating season. This family-friendly event teaches boaters about the importance of always wearing a life jacket, along with helpful care and maintenance information. This may be a standalone event or incorporated into other local outreach efforts. Find out more, register your event, and browse resources at safeboatingcampaign.com. #RSWI2021.
- National Safe Boating Week | May 22-28, 2021: From family-friendly events at marinas to vessel safety checks, this national awareness week is packed with life-saving messages about responsible boating. Now in its sixty-third year, National Safe Boating Week is where the National Safe Boating Council began and grew into a leading nonprofit focused on a fun and safe recreational boating experience through education, outreach and training. Resources are available at safeboatingcampaign.com. #NSBW2021 #nationalsafeboatingweek

Safety on the water is everyone's responsibility and it's through partners like you that we can spread this message even further. Please take a few minutes and explore the ways you can get involved, or further your involvement, with the Safe Boating Campaign. Safety starts with you. It only takes one minute, but the reward lasts a lifetime. Visit safeboatingcampaign.com to learn more.

GET STARTED

Thank you for your interest in becoming a Safe Boating Campaign partner! Each campaign partner is unique in how they lead efforts in their local community to encourage responsible boating. Following are a few ways you can get started as a Safe Boating Campaign partner. We encourage you to use our free resources to customize a campaign for your community. Please follow state and local public health guidance for all outreach events.

1. Register as a campaign partner.

Register at safeboatingcampaign.com/become-a-partner to be listed in our online partner database. While registering, be sure to opt-in to receive our email updates for the latest information about the campaign. Already registered? Find your listing and email any edits to outreach@safeboatingcouncil.org.

2. Read this Resource Kit and explore SafeBoatingCampaign.com.

This Resource Kit and safeboatingcampaign.com include many ideas and resources for you to implement in your local community. Be sure to browse the Resources page. All resources are available for free.

3. Mark your calendar with important dates.

- Wear Your Life Jacket at Work Day | Friday, May 21, 2021
- Ready, Set, Wear It Life Jacket Events | Date you select
- National Safe Boating Week | May 22 - 28, 2021
- Other Local Event Opportunities | Varies

4. Request a co-branded Safe Boating Campaign logo.

The Wear It logo is designed to accommodate co-branded initiatives - be it state, city or other municipalities/groups. Please note that on co-branded logos, the tagline has been modified to "In partnership with the National Safe Boating Council." It is important to not reproduce the Wear It logo with your entity; rather contact us at outreach@safeboatingcouncil.org to request a free custom logo. We do this to ensure brand equity.

5. Plan

From hosting a booth at a local community event to organizing volunteers at launch point - from placing public service announcement (PSAs) in local communities to participating in local media interviews - and from sharing infographics and boating safety facts on social media to talking with community groups about the importance of safety on the water - our Safe Boating Campaign partners use the free resources in this Resource Kit and on safeboatingcampaign.com to share about responsible boating in their community.

The following Sample Partner Plan may be customized for your community.

SAMPLE PARTNER PLAN

We encourage you to use our free resources to customize a campaign for your community. Please customize the sample partner plan based on your community needs and local volunteer support. Contact outreach@safeboatingcouncil.org with any questions. Please follow state and local public health guidance for all outreach events.

October / November

- Read the updated Resource Kit for additional ideas and resources for you to implement in your local community
- Register at safeboatingcampaign.com/become-a-partner to make sure you receive the latest email updates with outreach ideas and resources
- Already registered? Email outreach@safeboatingcouncil.org if you need to update your partner registration
- Save the date for National Safe Boating Week, Wear Your Life Jacket at Work Day, and other community event opportunities
- Begin planning efforts for your local outreach and recruit volunteers
- Request co-branded logo(s)
- If needed, purchase additional resources such as printed banners, swag and other educational items at safeboatingcouncil.org
- Update your organization social media pages and website with the co-branded logo
- Share on social media or download/print the free PSAs, infographics, and other images available at safeboatingcampaign.com
- Identify advertising opportunities in your community, and if needed, request free resized artwork from the Safe Boating Campaign
- Follow state and local public health guidance for all outreach events

December / January / February / March

- Co-brand Safe Boating Campaign PSAs and pursue placement opportunities in your community
- Continue planning efforts for your local outreach and recruit volunteers
- Request co-branded logo(s) if haven't yet
- If needed, purchase additional resources such as printed banners, swag and other educational items at safeboatingcouncil.org
- Share on social media or download/print the free PSAs, infographics, and other images available at safeboatingcampaign.com
- Identify advertising opportunities in your community, and if needed, request free resized artwork from the Safe Boating Campaign
- Contact your local state agency or park services to inquire about opportunities to include Safe Boating Campaign signage at park entrance kiosk(s) or launch points
- Review Safe Boating Campaigns ads and signage for kiosk(s) and launch points at safeboatingcampaign.com/resources
- Follow state and local public health guidance for all outreach events

SAMPLE PARTNER PLAN

April

- Email your volunteers and local participants with important information about your efforts
- Co-brand Safe Boating Campaign PSAs and pursue placement opportunities in your community
- Continue planning efforts for your local outreach and recruit volunteers
- If needed, purchase additional resources such as printed banners, swag and other educational items at safeboatingcouncil.org
- Share on social media or download/print the free PSAs, infographics, and other images available at safeboatingcampaign.com

- Follow state and local public health guidance for all outreach events

ADDITIONAL OUTREACH IDEAS

Safe Boating Campaign fun doesn't have to stop after National Safe Boating Week! Keep the momentum going and build awareness about boating responsibly throughout the year.

- Check safeboatingcampaign.com often as new resources will be released throughout the year
- Participate in community events in your area where you can share about boating safety
- Plan a local Ready, Set, Wear It Life Jacket event any time during the boating season
- Invite a boating safety professional from a state or local DNR to speak about boating safety
- Visit a local elementary, middle, high school, or college and educate the students about life jacket safety
- Create an educational day where you can teach the public how to fish or boat while emphasizing important life-saving decisions like wearing a life jacket
- Organize a safety day on the water for your local youth organization (i.e., Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, 4-H)
- Volunteer to train, or arrange training for, youth summer camps on safety practices for water activities
- Work with local or state partners to do safety awareness day where local enforcement agencies and organizations distribute Safe Boating Campaign resource
- Host a booth at various boating events, races, and other events where visitors may be given Safe Boating Campaign resources
- Install launch point signage or a billboard near a popular boating area
- Partner with local outdoor clubs to host a life jacket and water safety presentation

RESEARCH

Understanding how boaters view life jackets, how they prepare before they head out on the water or what behaviors they display while enjoying the outdoors is imperative to the success of the Safe Boating Campaign. The National Safe Boating Council conducts an Annual Awareness Survey to measure the impact of the campaign's education efforts, specifically the impact on life jacket wear, attitudes and safety behavior of boaters.

The annual survey has found the Safe Boating Campaign continues to positively influence individual safety practices throughout various water activities. The research reiterates the positive impact the Safe Boating Campaign's education efforts have had on boaters' life jacket and safety practices.

To read the survey findings, please visit safeboatingcampaign.com.

Key Survey Findings

- Boaters who are aware of the campaign are significantly more likely to wear life jackets “always or most of the time” compared to those unaware.
- Significantly more boaters who are aware of the campaign image agree with the safety statements versus those who are unaware.
- Boaters who are aware of the campaign image are significantly more likely to wear a life jacket because they “feel safest when wearing a life jacket/it’s a safe practice” and “it’s automatic – I wouldn’t boat without it on.”
- Barriers to life jacket wear are no laws requiring wear, uncomfortable jackets, and/or forgetting or not thinking about wearing one.
- Motivators to increase life jacket wear among those who wear them “rarely or never” are a law requiring boaters to wear life jackets.
- Boaters also mentioned that having life jackets that are more comfortable or less bulky, having life jackets that are easy to use/wear, and awareness of boating accidents where wearing a life jacket saved lives were also motivators.

RECREATIONAL BOATING SAFETY FACTS

All figures are from the U.S. Coast Guard's 2019 Recreational Boating Safety Statistics, the latest official record of reported recreational boating accidents. Full report available:

http://uscgboating.org/statistics/accident_statistics.php

Key Facts

- Drowning was reported as the cause of death in 79 percent of all boating fatalities.
- Approximately 86 percent of those who drowned were not wearing life jackets.
- In 2019, the Coast Guard counted 4,168 accidents that involved 613 deaths, 2,559 injuries and approximately $55 million dollars of damage to property as a result of recreational boating accidents.
- The fatality rate was 5.2 deaths per 100,000 registered recreational vessels. This rate represents a 1.9 percent decrease from the 2018 fatality rate of 5.3 deaths per 100,000 registered recreational vessels.
- Only 20 percent of deaths occurred on boats where the operator had received boating safety instruction.
- Operator inattention, improper lookout, operator inexperience, excessive speed, and alcohol rank as the top five primary contributing factors in accidents.
- Alcohol use is the leading known contributing factor in fatal boating accidents. Where the primary cause was known, alcohol was listed as the leading factor in 23 percent of deaths.
- Where data was known, the most common types of vessels involved in reported accidents were open motorboats (45 percent), personal watercraft (19 percent) and cabin motorboats (16 percent).

Data Snapshot

- Fatalities: 613
- Drownings: 484
- Injuries (requiring medical treatment beyond first aid): 2,559
- Boating accidents: 4,168
- Property damage: $55,000,000
- Number of registered recreational boats in the U.S.: 11,878,542

LIFE JACKET FACTS

Most boaters know they're required to have a U.S. Coast Guard-approved wearable life jacket on board for every person on their boat. Boating safety advocates recommend that all boaters and passengers not only have a life jacket, but wear it at all times while boating.

Accidents on the water can happen much too fast to reach and put on a stowed life jacket. Drowning is the reported cause of death in 79 percent of all boating fatalities – and 86 percent of drowning victims in recreational boating accidents were not wearing a life jacket in 2019.

The good news is that today's life jackets are much more comfortable, lightweight and stylish than the bulky orange style most boaters know. Life jackets that use inflatable technologies are cool and comfortable. They may resemble a pair of suspenders or a belt pack. Many inflate automatically when immersed in water.

There are U.S. Coast Guard-approved life jacket styles available for almost any boating activity.

Cruising in an open motorboat:

Comfort is key – choose a life jacket you'll want to wear. For ages 16 and older, inflatable life jackets are a great option.

Hunting and cold weather:

Full coats and suits are available in camouflage colors for waterfowl hunting and for those who boat when air and water temperatures are cool.

Fishing: Designed with the angler's needs in mind; vest-style life jackets have features such as pockets and clips to replace the fishing vest and keep the angler safe, while allowing for the needed full range of motion and mobility.

Paddling: Special life jackets are designed with large openings for arms to allow ease of movement.

Personal watercraft and water sports:

Inherently buoyant, lighter-weight life jackets are rugged, with multiple buckles and clasps to keep them secure after impact with the water.

Children: Virtually all styles available are sized especially for children – some with cartoon characters or other high-visibility themes, and many include additional safety features such as straps for pulling children from the water.

Pets: Life jackets are even available for our four-legged friends. It's helpful to purchase one with a handle on top to easily pull your pet out of the water, if needed.

HAVE THE RIGHT LIFE JACKET?

No matter what the activity or style chosen, the most important thing is this: Remember to be responsible and always wear your life jacket while boating.

Looking for a life jacket? Today's life jackets come in a variety of shapes, sizes, colors and materials. No matter which life jacket you choose, be sure it's right for you, your planned activities and the water conditions you expect to encounter.

Download How to Read the Label infographic at safeboatingcampaign.com/life-jackets.

Try It On

- Check the manufacturer's ratings for your size and weight.
- Make sure the life jacket is properly zipped and/or buckled.
- Check for fit by raising your arms above your head while wearing the life jacket and ask a friend to grasp the tops of the arm openings and gently pull up.
- Ensure your life jacket fits properly with no excess room above the openings and the life jacket does not ride up over your chin or face. A snug fit in these areas shows the life jacket fits properly.

Fit Facts

- It is extremely important that you choose a life jacket that fits properly.
- Life jackets that are too big will cause the flotation device to push up around your face, which could be dangerous.
- Life jackets that are too small may not be able to keep your body afloat.

Important Reminders

- Make sure your life jacket is U.S. Coast Guard approved.
- Double check that your life jacket is appropriate for your favorite water activities. Read the label!
- Take the time to ensure a proper fit. A life jacket that is too large or too small can cause different situational problems.
- Check your life jacket is in good serviceable condition, with no tears or holes. Test to make sure it works properly.
- Life jackets meant for adult-sized people do not work for children. If you are boating with children, make sure they are wearing properly fitted, child-sized life jackets based on their weight. Do not buy a life jacket for your child to "grow into."

Some state laws vary, but it is always safe to assume, and a smart move, no matter what the age to always wear your life jacket. On recreational boats underway, children under 13 years old must wear a U.S. Coast Guard approved life jacket unless they are below decks or in an enclosed cabin. For more information, please check with local Marine Law Enforcement Authorities.

LIFE JACKET IMAGES

Being on the water is meant to be enjoyed. Whether you are fishing, skiing or just getting some sun with friends, it is important that you and your group plan accordingly before heading out for a day on the water.

What comes to mind when you picture a life jacket? Often many imagine large, bright and bulky styles but with modern technology, comes modern solutions for anyone seeking to enjoy the outdoors. Today, life jackets come in all shapes and sizes. Some are light and inflate when submerged in water; others have a streamline design to allow boaters to have a full range of movement. And, of course, don't forget the sizes for small children and man's best friend.

Just as there should not be a summer day on the water without the sun shining, there should never be a time when safety and a life jacket are optional. See below the various options of life jackets; there is a style that will work for any activity you are pursuing.

LIFE JACKET LABELS

You may see a new label on the inside of new life jackets with a performance level icon. Life jackets with the new label are approved for use in the United States and Canada, whereas devices with the old labels continue to be approved in one country or the other, not both. The new label DOES NOT make obsolete life jackets with the old label. You can continue to use your life jacket as long as it is in good condition and appropriate for the activity.

Approval information

All life jackets that are U.S. Coast Guard approved have an approval number- look for this number, there are several illegally imported life jackets on the market, ensure yours is U.S. Coast Guard approved to meet the law, and is safe.

Turning unconscious person face up

It is a misconception that if a life jacket is U.S. Coast Guard approved it will automatically turn a person face-up. This is NOT true. Select a life jacket with this icon to ensure it will turn you face up, and then take to a pool or protected waters and test your life jacket.

Towing sports

Some life jackets are only approved for towing sports such as tubing, waterskiing or wakeboarding.

Operating a Personal Water Craft (PWC)

Some life jacket labels specify not approved for operating a Personal Water Craft.

WHAT ARE INFLATABLE LIFE JACKETS?

Inflatable life jackets rely on CO₂ cylinders that provide buoyancy when inflated vs. inherently buoyant life jackets that use foam or other buoyant materials to stay afloat.

Inflatable life jackets are a less bulky, comfortable alternative to inherently buoyant life jackets.

There are three inflatable life jacket styles – belt pack (worn around the waist like a fanny pack), suspender or stole (worn over the shoulders) and vest (fuller body coverage with pockets). Each features a lightweight, compact design that provides comfort, range of motion and is cooler to wear in warmer weather.

Inflatables are only approved for use by people age 16 years and older, and are not recommended for non-swimmers. Do not use for active water sports, such as water skiing, tubing, wakeboarding, whitewater activities or while operating a personal watercraft.

Inflatable life jackets require regular checks and maintenance by the user. Inflatable life jackets are reusable, but, after each use, the CO₂ cylinder needs to be replaced. Replacement CO₂ cylinders can be purchased by contacting the life jacket's manufacturer.

How Do Inflatable Life Jackets Work?

Inflatable life jackets use compressed air, or CO₂, to fill itself with air and provide 45 percent more buoyancy when inflated. This causes the person to float higher and be more visible when the life jacket is inflated. Always read the owner's manual that accompanies the life jacket for instructions or contact the manufacturer.

There are two primary types – manual (inflates with the quick jerk of a cord) or automatic (inflates when submerged in water). Both types can be orally inflated by breathing into the inflation tube/mouthpiece. This is a backup method to inflate the life jacket in case the inflation mechanism malfunctions, and gives you the ability to adjust the comfort of the jacket once inflated. The inflation tube is also how you will deflate the life jacket to repack it.

All inflatable life jackets have these components: air holding chamber, source of compressed gas (usually CO₂), inflation mechanism to discharge gas from the cylinder into the inflation chamber, inflation tube/mouthpiece to add air to the chamber orally or to deflate, and a manual “jerk to inflate” cord. When wearing any inflatable life jacket, be sure the manual “jerk to inflate” cord is easily accessible.

An automatic inflatable life jacket will automatically inflate when the life jacket is submerged in at least four inches of water, either when a small tablet dissolves in water and causes the inflator to activate or when using an internal water pressure gauge that activates the inflator. In addition to automatically inflating, every automatic inflatable life jacket has a “jerk to inflate” cord in case the automatic mechanism fails or the life jacket may be inflated by breathing into the inflation tube.

INFLATABLE LIFE JACKET FAQs

1. I do not know how to swim. Should I use an inflatable life jacket?

No. A poor or non-swimmer could panic in an unexpected fall into the water and may forget they need to activate the manual “jerk to inflate” cord. Please use an inherently buoyant or hybrid life jacket (has both inherent and inflatable system of buoyancy) that provides flotation without any action on your part.

2. Is there an age requirement for inflatable life jackets?

Yes. Inflatables are only approved for use by people age 16 years and older. People under the age of 16 must have an inherently buoyant or hybrid life jacket in their size range, and it should be properly worn.

3. Are inflatable life jackets approved for all boating activities?

No. Full inflatable life jackets are not approved for high-speed activities such as riding on a personal watercraft, waterskiing or tubing, participating in whitewater activities, or working in commercial boating activities (please wear an inherently buoyant life jacket).

4. Will any CO₂ cylinder work from a store?

No. It is important to use a rearm kit that includes a cylinder that is supplied by the maker of the life jacket. The correct cylinder to use will be indicated on the life jacket itself and in the owner’s manual, and can be obtained by contacting the life jacket manufacturer.

5. Can I use my CO₂ cylinder more than once?

No. Once the cylinder has been punctured, all of the gas will escape into the chamber. This is why you need to check to see if the cylinder is full before each outing. If your device has a Cylinder Seal Indicator, it will show GREEN if the cylinder is full. If it shows RED, you must replace the cylinder.

6. Can I carry inflatable life jackets on an airplane?

Most airlines will permit you to check in or carry on up to two cylinders in the life jackets and two spares. However, you should check with your individual airline to confirm its policy. To avoid an accidental discharge, it is advisable to disarm your inflatable before carrying it on board or checking in with the airlines.

7. Can an inflatable life jacket be worn under clothes?

It’s important to know that inflatable life jackets can never be worn under clothing, including coats or jackets. If so, the life jacket would function ineffectively and could lead to serious injury, discomfort or difficulty breathing.

8. How do I maintain my inflatable life jacket?

Frequent inspections are important. Inspection would include orally inflating the life jacket and ensuring it holds air for 16-24 hours, inspecting the cylinder (not discharged and no corrosion), and checking that the cylinder is screwed in tight. Always refer to the owner’s manual.

9. How do I store my inflatable life jacket?

Please store an inflatable life jacket in a cool, dry area, out of direct sunlight and away from exposure to gas or oil.

10. How do I know if my inflatable life jacket is U.S. Coast Guard approved?

Always check the label. It will indicate if the inflatable life jacket has to be worn, or not, to be legal. In any case, the inflatable should always be worn in order for it to provide the protection you’ll need should you find yourself suddenly and unexpectedly in the water.

BOATING SAFETY TIPS

1. Wear a life jacket.

No matter what activity you have planned on the water, always remember to wear a life jacket every time you are on the water. Accidents on the water can happen much too fast to reach and put on a stowed life jacket.

2. Make sure your life jacket is U.S. Coast Guard approved, appropriate for your water activity and fits properly.

A life jacket that is too large or too small can cause different situational problems.

3. Know state boating laws.

Rules and laws can differ from state to state and violations can result in ticketing, fines or jail time.

4. Take a boating safety course.

Learn valuable tips that can help save your life in unexpected situations by taking a NASBLA (National Association of Boating Law Administrators) approved boating safety course. Many courses are online, and will save you money on your boat insurance.

5. Make sure your boat is prepared.

There are many items that need to be checked and rechecked on any boat. Schedule a Vessel Safety Check with your local U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary or U.S. Power Squadrons before you hit the water. Every Vessel Safety Check is conducted 100 percent free of charge.

6. Be sure to know your boat's capacity.

If you have too much on your boat, the boat may become unstable and capsize.

7. Check the weather, including the water temperature.

Know the latest marine weather forecast prior to going out, and keep a regular check for changing conditions.

8. Dress properly.

Always dress for the weather, wearing layers if cooler weather, and bring an extra set of clothes in case you get wet.

9. Always file a float plan.

File a float plan with someone you trust that includes details about the trip, boat, persons, towing or trailer vehicle, communication equipment and emergency contacts. Find out more at floatplancentral.org.

10. Always follow navigation rules.

Know the "Rules of the Road" such as operator's responsibility, maintaining a proper lookout, safe speed, crossing, meeting head-on and overtaking situations. Know what's going on around you at all times, and always travel at safe speeds for the environment. Find out more at boatoncourse.com.

11. Don't drink while you boat.

Where the primary cause was known, alcohol was listed as a leading factor in boating-related deaths. Find out more at operationdrywater.org.

12. Beware of carbon monoxide poisoning.

Gasoline-powered engines on boats, including onboard generators, produce carbon monoxide (CO), a colorless and odorless gas that can poison or kill someone who breathes too much of it. Be sure to install and maintain a working CO detector, never block exhaust outlets, and always dock, beach or anchor at least 20 feet away from the nearest boat that is running a generator or engine.

13. Keep in touch.

Communication devices can be the most important piece of emergency equipment on board a vessel, especially in case of emergency. Be sure to have at least two communication devices that work when wet, such as satellite phones, emergency position indicating radio beacons (EPIRB), VHF radios and personal locator beacons (PLB). Cell phones are not reliable in an emergency situation.

COLD-WATER BOATING

Cold-water immersion is the cause of many boating-related fatalities. The danger increases as water temperature decreases below normal body temperature (98.6° F). For more information on boating in cold water, visit coldwaterbootcampusa.org.

Dos and Don'ts of Cold-Water Boating

- Do make sure everyone is wearing a life jacket. Even experienced swimmers will experience shock within one minute in the frigid water and lose muscle control within 10 minutes.
- Do file a float plan with someone you trust that includes details about the trip, boat, persons, towing or trailer vehicle, communication equipment and emergency contacts. Download a free float plan template at www.floatplancentral.org.
- Do dress properly for the weather, always wear layers, and bring an extra set of clothes in case you get wet. Remember, dress for the water temperature, not the air temperature.
- Do use your navigation lights to alert other boaters of your presence in dark and/or foggy conditions. Recreational boats operating at night are required to display navigation lights between sunset and sunrise.
- Do catch your breath. A sudden, unexpected fall into cold water causes an involuntary gasp (or torso) reflex. It takes less than one-half cup of water in your lungs to drown. If you remain calm, you have a greater chance of self-rescue.
- Don't panic if you fall into the water. Stay afloat with the help of your life jacket, regain control of your breathing and keep your head above water in vision of rescuers.
- Don't keep heavy boots on if you're in the water. Look for ways to increase your buoyancy. If you're in the water with others, huddle together with everyone facing inward to help everyone stay afloat and keep warm.
- Don't apply heat to extremities like arms and legs of a rescued victim. This sudden change in temperature could cause cardiac arrest.

Stages of Cold-Water Immersion

- Cold shock. You have one minute to adjust to the cold shock response – don't panic.
- Swimming failure. You have 10 minutes of meaningful movement to get help and get out of the water.
- Hypothermia. You have about one hour before you become unconscious from hypothermia.
- Post-rescue collapse. You "give up" and collapse after or right at the time of rescue.

WEAR IT OUT INITIATIVE

The National Safe Boating Council, a national catalyst for recreational boating safety, has launched a social change marketing initiative to make life jacket wear a routine part of the behavior of boaters and others who spend time on the water. “Wear It Out” is part of the Safe Boating Campaign, an annual worldwide effort focused on responsible boating.

“To change behavior, we must focus on connecting boaters, not convincing, and working toward building bonds and inspiring behavior change over the long term,” said Peg Phillips, executive director of the National Safe Boating Council. “Wear It Out takes a new approach to boating safety – it changes the intent of wearing a life jacket and shows boaters that it’s rewarding, expected, easy, and the norm.”

Wear It Out focuses on the idea that wearing a life jacket shows that you are a ‘real boater.’ New advertising, signage and social media promotions will be rolled out to support the social marketing campaign.

“Real boaters always wear their life jacket when they’re on the water – just like you always wear your seat belt in a vehicle. Wear It Out shows the passion that boaters have for the water, so much so that that they wear their life jacket even when doing day-to-day activities – such as walking a dog, brushing their teeth, or eating out with friends,” said Yvonne Pentz, communications director of the National Safe Boating Council.

ORGANIZATION to Encourage Others to “Wear Your Life Jacket at Work” on Friday, May 21, 2021

CITY, STATE (DATE) – ORGANIZATION announced today its support of Wear Your Life Jacket at Work Day on Friday, May 21, 2021. ORGANIZATION joins boating professionals and outdoor enthusiasts to heighten awareness of different life jacket styles that are available, and demonstrate their comfort and versatility by wearing them to work.

The annual event, hosted by the National Safe Boating Council (NSBC) serves as a fun, educational element just prior to National Safe Boating Week, May 22-28, the official launch of the 2021 Safe Boating Campaign. Educating the boating public about the safety and comfort of life jackets has been a main focus of the campaign. “Wear Your Life Jacket at Work” Day will take place on Friday, May 21, wherever you are!

“QUOTE FROM AN ORGANIZATION OFFICER OR OTHER PROMINENT SUPPORTER.”

The National Safe Boating Council is asking all participants to take a picture of themselves in their life jacket while at work and post it to the Facebook page or submit it directly to the NSBC at outreach@safe-boatingcouncil.org. Participants are also encouraged to tweet their picture using #lifejacketatwork.

U.S. Coast Guard statistics show that drowning was the reported cause of death in four out of every five recreational boating fatalities in 2019, and that approximately 86 percent of those who drowned were not wearing life jackets.

Members of the boating public as well as those interested in showing the wearability of life jackets are encouraged to participate.

READY, SET, WEAR IT

Previously only offered on select dates throughout the summer, Ready, Set, Wear It is now implemented by campaign partners on various dates throughout the boating season. This family-friendly event teaches boaters about the importance of always wearing a life jacket, along with helpful care and maintenance information. With a bit of fun along the way! Please follow state and local public health guidance for any outreach events. #RSWI2021

Ready, Set, Wear It Life Jacket event may be a standalone event or incorporated into other local outreach efforts. This event is about raising awareness about the importance of wearing a life jacket. Please note, this is no longer a world record event.

For many boaters, it's tempting to not wear a life jacket while on the water - you want to get some sun, think you're a strong swimmer, or it's simply not cool. Regardless of the recreational boating activity, there's never an excuse to not wear a life jacket. Accidents happen in an instant. Make it a habit. Always wear a life jacket.

Ready, Set, Wear It Life Jacket events shine the spotlight on life jackets. Event activities may include:

- Group photo opportunity
- Inflatable life jacket demonstration - get participants involved
- Life jacket care and maintenance instruction
- Life jacket fashion show - if you're a boater, there's a life jacket for you!

NATIONAL SAFE BOATING WEEK

What looks like a perfect day for boating can quickly become hazardous if someone ends up in the water. For National Safe Boating Week, held from May 22-28, 2021, boating safety advocates have teamed up to promote safe and responsible boating, including consistent life jacket wear every time boaters are on the water.

National Safe Boating Week is the launch of the Safe Boating Campaign, a yearlong effort focused on spreading the message of responsible boating. From family-friendly events at marinas to vessel safety checks, the week is packed with life-saving messages about responsible boating.

What's Happening

- The Safe Boating Campaign will remind boaters of the importance of boating safely throughout the annual awareness week.
- Campaign partners will host local events, teach classes, offer on-water training, distribute educational materials and perform free vessel safety checks. Please follow state and local public health guidance for any outreach events.
- Free and paid resources will support local boating safety education efforts available in the National Safe Boating Council's online store and the campaign's resource kit.

Don't Be a Number

- Drowning was the reported cause of death in four out of every five recreational boating fatalities in 2019.
- 86 percent of those who drowned were not wearing life jackets.

Get Involved

The Safe Boating Campaign unites the efforts of a wide variety of boating safety advocates. It is produced under a grant from the Sports Fish Restoration and Boating Trust Fund, administered by the U.S. Coast Guard.

Follow the campaign on social media and find more boating safety information at safeboatingcampaign.com.

NATIONAL SAFE BOATING WEEK

Template Proclamation

For nearly 100 million Americans, boating continues to be a popular recreational activity. From coast to coast, and everywhere in between, people are taking to the water and enjoying time together boating, sailing, paddling and fishing. During National Safe Boating Week, the U.S. Coast Guard and its federal, state, and local safe boating partners encourage all boaters to explore and enjoy America's beautiful waters responsibly.

Safe boating begins with preparation. The Coast Guard estimates that human error accounts for most boating accidents and that life jackets could prevent nearly 86 percent of boating fatalities. Through basic boating safety procedures – carrying lifesaving emergency distress and communications equipment, wearing life jackets, attending safe boating courses, participating in free boat safety checks, and staying sober when navigating – we can help ensure boaters on America's coastal, inland, and offshore waters stay safe throughout the season.

National Safe Boating Week is observed to bring attention to important life-saving tips for recreational boaters so that they can have a safer, more fun experience out on the water throughout the year.

- Whereas, on average, 600 people die each year in boating-related accidents in the U.S.; 79 percent of these are fatalities caused by drowning; and
- Whereas, the vast majority of these accidents are caused by human error or poor judgment and not by the boat, equipment or environmental factors; and
- Whereas, a significant number of boaters who lose their lives by drowning each year would be alive today had they worn their life jackets.

Therefore, I, _____, do hereby support the goals of the Safe Boating Campaign and proclaim May 22-28, 2021 as National Safe Boating Week and the start of the year-round effort to promote safe boating.

In Witness Whereof, I urge all those who boat to practice safe boating habits and wear a life jacket at all times while boating.

Given under my signature and the seal of
at the city of _____,
this _____ day of _____, 2021.
